Bio

Jack is an emerging writer for stage and screen, working across both comedy and drama. He studied creative writing at both Chichester University and Oxford Brookes where he received an MA. His strengths as a writer lie in the vibrant and complex characters he creates and his ability to entertain and explore genres whilst dissecting universal truths. Jack is currently developing a host of scripts for TV that span comedy, drama, sci-fi and rom-com, including female-led, supernatural teenage love story ALICE; character-driven comedy-drama JUST A NUMBER about dating an older woman/younger man and; The Return; a supernatural thriller about a group of teenagers who discover a portal to a parallel world.
